Here's What Sandy McNutt Says About Re/Max Partners

As a REALTOR® for seven years, I found I was ready to take my career to the next level. I interviewed several offices and feel like I found a home at RE/MAX Partners. Although I already had a couple of designations, I discovered a new world of information on the RE/MAX website. Through this website I took the Certified Distressed Properties Expert (CDPE) and the Five Star Institute designations as a way to better prepare myself to assist buyers and sellers in distressed situations that are so prevalent in today's market. With these additional designations, I am in a much stronger position to take on additional REO listing assignments. Also I have found a distinct advantage with the connections that RE/MAX has with different banking partners.

In the three months since I have joined this office, I have gotten listing opportunities due to the wonderful reputation of this brokerage for being a large - award winning - high production office. Sellers are anxious to have their home listed by a company who was awarded the Top Volume California Office and Highest Commission Earned in California of 2010. The personnel at the office and the in-house escrow company are professional, helpful and nice which makes the office an enjoyable work environment. And with an office that is staffed 7 days a week, agents are never left without support personnel.

In this amazing real estate market of low prices and even lower interest rates, RE/MAX Partners is the perfect "partner" to help REALTORS® achieve their highest goals.

Sincerely,
Sandy McNutt
